The Problem

Job Descriptions Suck...

- They describe the past, not the work: written from outdated templates that don't reflect how the job is actually done
- They focus on tasks, not outcomes: you learn what to do, not what success looks like
- They list fantasy requirements: laundry lists written by committees, not practitioners
- They anchor everything to "years of experience": which has zero correlation to capability or impact
- They are intentionally vague to reduce legal exposure: the result is useless, generic, corporate sludge
- They push away great candidates: especially those who have the skills but not the traditional background
- They bake bias directly into the hiring process: privileging pedigree and credentials over demonstrated ability
- They age instantly: technology, tools, workflows, and expectations change every 6-12 months; the JD never does

Description

Become a part of our caring community and help us put health first

Humana's Special Investigations Unit is seeking a Senior Fraud & Waste Investigator to join the Oklahoma Medicaid Team. This team of Investigators conducts investigations into allegations of fraud, waste, and abuse involving providers who submit claims to Humana's Oklahoma Medicaid line of business. As the Senior Fraud and Waste Investigator, you will serve as Humana's Program Integrity Officer, and will oversee the monitoring and enforcement of the fraud, waste, and abuse (FWA) compliance program to prevent and detect potential FWA activities pursuant to state and federal rules and regulations.

Additionally, you will act as the primary point of contact for OHCA and other agencies such as the Medicaid Fraud Control Unit (MFCU) and coordinate all aspects of FWA activities in Oklahoma to increase Medicaid program transparency and accountability. You will report to the SIU Director and work closely with Humana's Oklahoma Market.

Key Role Functions

- Carry out the provisions of the compliance plan, including FWA policies and procedures
- Investigate allegations of FWA and implement corrective action plans
- Assess records and independently refer suspected member fraud, provider fraud, and member abuse cases to the Oklahoma Health Care Authority (OHCA) and other duly authorized enforcement agencies
- Coordinate across all departments to encourage sensible and culturally-competent business standards
- Oversee internal investigations of FWA compliance issues
- Collaborate with the Contract Compliance Officer and Compliance Officer to create and implement tools and initiatives designed to resolve OHCA FWA contract compliance issues
- Respond to FWA questions, problems, and concerns from enrollees, providers, and OHCA Program Integrity
- Cooperate effectively with federal, state, and local investigative agencies on FWA cases to ensure best outcomes; work closely with internal and external auditors

- Respond to FWA questions, problems, and concerns from enrollees, providers, and OHCA Program Integrity
- Cooperate effectively with federal, state, and local investigative agencies on FWA cases to ensure best outcomes; work closely with internal and external auditors, financial investigators, and claims processing areas

- Assist in developing FWA education to train staff, providers, and subcontractors
- Attend State Agency meetings

Use your skills to make an impact

WORK STYLE: Remote, work at home. While this is a remote position, occasional travel to Humana's offices for training or meetings may be required.
